Overnight husky safari

It was a winter holiday treat for the whole family, and we were all looking forward to spending the night in a log cabin. At first, it was lots of fun – the huskies dashed along <sup>4</sup> _____, throwing us about on the sleds. 'How could anyone possibly <sup>5</sup> _____ this,' we thought. And then, suddenly, <sup>6</sup> _____ fell – and it was only three o'clock! Four hours later, we were still sledding – cold, and by then, suffering from <sup>7</sup> _____ and hunger.

'Don't worry!' shouted the guide. He told us that we would soon be at our <sup>8</sup> _____. But it felt as if we were going round and round in circles. Then, through the gloom, a cabin came slowly into view. 'It must be ours,' we thought – but the guide said that it wasn't and started to look worried. One hour later, to our horror, the guide informed us that we were lost. We decided we had no <sup>9</sup> _____ but to turn back and break into the cabin that we had passed, and spend the night there. Although the freezing cabin was extremely <sup>10</sup> _____, it was certainly better than being outside!
